Peliquan lands €2M Seed Capital to bring its all-in-one AI-first data platform to market

Ghent, Belgium, April 2nd 2025.

Peliquan, the all-in-one AI-first data platform, has raised €2M seed funding led by welovefounders, with participation of Torus Capital and a range of business angels from leading B2B SaaS companies such as Odoo's CFO Alessandro Mazzocchi. The company has been bootstrapped by the founders, and the seed round will accelerate the go-to-market in Europe and beyond.

Founded by serial entrepreneurs Niko Nelissen and Piet-Michiël Rappelet, Peliquan was created to give every consultant, every SME and every business team within an enterprise the superpowers of a data engineer. Peliquan provides all the tools for end-to-end data activation, without the challenges that - until now - only data engineers could solve.

"We bring together key technology components that companies had to glue together with a dedicated team before Peliquan", explain Niko Nelissen and Piet-Michiël Rappelet. "With Peliquan, you can get started immediately and your data will be flowing into the data warehouse with just a few clicks."

Peliquan is an AI-first platform that supports users in every step of the data-activation process. This includes extracting data (ETL), centralizing the data in a built-in data warehouse, cleaning & combining the data, consuming the data in any BI tool or AI chatbot, and sending data back into business applications (Reverse ETL).

"Companies increasingly need to become more data-driven while adopting AI in every aspect of their business. Peliquan is the engine that fuels BI reports as well as AI agents with up-to-date data.", said Antoine Duchateau from welovefounders, who led the investment round. "Peliquan has developed a unique technology that dramatically simplifies every aspect of data management."

"We love that Peliquan is a hyper scalable and ultra-secure platform, led by an experienced team that puts customers first. The Peliquan team has a clear mission to turn everyone into a data engineer, which is crucial in today's fast-paced economy.", said Jochen Boeykens from Torus Capital.

Commercially launched in 2024, Peliquan already has 50+ consultancy partners and enterprise customers around the globe, served with 250+ connectors for leading ERP, CRM and Accounting software, managing thousands of data pipelines and automation flows. Peliquan currently supports customers in Europe, APAC and the USA from its headquarters in Ghent Belgium and its office in Bangalore, India.
